CABBI.COM OFFERS BETTER WAY TO FIND QUALITY-CERTIFIED B&Bs, BOUTIQUE HOTELS AND COUNTRY INNS IN CALIFORNIA

California Association of Bed & Breakfast Inns (CABBI) Announces New Web Site and 2008 Travel Guide Featuring More Than 300 B&Bs

SACRAMENTO, CA – Finding quality-certified bed and breakfast inns is now easier than ever, thanks to the largest and most influential bed & breakfast inn association in the nation.

The California Association of Bed & Breakfast Inns (CABBI) recently published its 2008 Travel Guide and launched a new Web site, www.cabbi.com -- offering travelers two easy ways to find and book reservations at nearly 300 B&Bs, Boutique Hotels and Country Inns throughout California.

CABBI's comprehensive Web site features an expanded search function, easy-to-use navigation, and availability calendar – making it the most thorough, single source of information for top-rated B&Bs in the state. Travelers can search for B&Bs based on regional and city locations, promotional packages or amenities such as pet and children accommodations or bike-friendly properties.

CABBI's free 2008 Travel Guide is a full-color, 24-page booklet featuring five regional maps and descriptions. Travelers can get a free copy of the guide by visiting cabbi.com.

CABBI provides travelers with an extensive choice from country cottages and historic Victorian mansions, to boutique hotels, beach-front hideaways, and unusual settings like boats and farm stays. And, since only CABBI-certified inns are listed, travelers are assured they will be staying at a high quality, well-maintained property.
